GREETINGS FROM THE MAYOR:

On behalf of City Council, I would like to extend sincere greetings to all Steveston businesses, residents and visitors.

As the Steveston community changes, develops and grows by welcoming more residents and more visitors, the Steveston Villager Business Directory publication adapts and grows alongside the unique community that it serves. This year marks Steveston Villager's 25th anniversary. For 25 years, the Villager has been and continues to be a valuable resource for all who use it and is an integral part of this vibrant community. It is the only publication solely dedicated to the promotion of Steveston businesses. The Villager is enhanced by the Steveston Community website, which is updated monthly with current activities, new businesses, and much more.

One of Richmond's many gems, Steveston has something to offer everyone. Both historic and picturesque, there are trails, dykes, natural parks and gardens, and a wide selection of amenities. Visitors and residents can stroll along the docks, purchase fresh seafood directly off the local fishermen's boats, enjoy the area's fine cuisine, visit a museum, or shop the unique galleries and boutiques. Visitors are often pleasantly surprised at the richness of offerings in this quaint seaside village.

This summer, the Steveston community once again celebrated its annual Steveston Salmon Festival – a long standing tradition in which the entire community can take pride, as it welcomes visitors from other parts of Richmond, the Lower Mainland, and the world. Now, as the fall season approaches, we look forward to the changing season and the traditions that are heralded by its arrival.

Best wishes to all the contributors and users of the Fall 2011 issue of the Steveston Villager Business Directory.

Malcolm D. Brodie
Mayor

GREETINGS FROM JOHN YAP, MLA

As your Member of the Legislative Assembly for Richmond-Steveston I would like to take this opportunity to offer greetings to all the residents, businesses and visitors to Steveston.

The Steveston Villager has a permanent place on the coffee table in the welcoming area of my constituency office. The publication is easily recognized and frequently read by my constituents and other guests who want quick, easily accessible information on Steveston. It is a wonderful resource to have available to people and I would like to offer my congratulations to all associated with the Steveston Villager on their 25th Anniversary of serving the people of Steveston

Welcome to Steveston and I hope you enjoy all that our special village has to offer!

Steveston – City Within A City

When I am asked where I live, I like to reply that I live on an island. That usually brings looks of envy and wonder from the person asking the question. Then I mention that I don't need to catch a ferry to commute to Vancouver. That remark raises eyebrows. That's when I say I live in a little town called Steveston on Lulu Island, now known as Richmond.

I've lived in Richmond for over 33 years with 23 of these years in Steveston. What attracted me to Steveston is what attracts many people to Steveston – we have the charm of a village, the friendliness of a small town, and the amenities of a big city. Steveston residents sometimes claim a different identity from those who live in Richmond even though there isn't a great divide that separates the two areas apart from each other.

Steveston significant history dates back to the 1800's. A distinct neighbourhood that began as a fishing village has now blossomed into a city within a city.

Some of that history still remains today in the form of physical landmarks such as the Gulf of Georgia Cannery National Historic Site, Britannia Heritage Shipyard, London Heritage Farm, and a number of heritage buildings.

One of best things about Steveston is the number of shops and restaurants. They all have their own unique character and flavour. Eating fish and chips in front of a fishing dock or watching the boats travel across the water while enjoying a coffee is certainly a refreshing experience for people young and old alike. We're just steps away from being able to go for a walk, jog, or bike ride along the scenic waterfront dyke trail. You can fly a kite at Garry Point Park or try your luck fishing on one of the piers. We have all of these natural attributes, yet we're just minutes away from an international airport and downtown Richmond.

I remember when I first visited Steveston over thirty years ago. I felt like I had taken a step back into time. You could buy fresh seafood from the fishing boats and fresh produce at the farm markets. What struck me the most was the quiet calm of the area and how everyone seemed to be more relaxed in their daily routine. It was a contrast to living in central Richmond. I knew that one day I would live in Steveston and that day eventually happened.

Although Steveston has changed quite a bit over the past few years, it still has managed to keep its small town charm and atmosphere. These are endearing qualities that I hope will remain for a long time.

Steveston is where the Fraser River and the Pacific Ocean meet. It's also the place where people from all over the world meet.

WHY TEAK?

Teak/Jati/Tectona Grandis

Tectona grandis is the Latin name for TEAK, a hardwood of the family Verbenaceae.

Plantation grown teak trees can attain a height of up to 45cm [ 150ft ] with a diameter of 1 - 1.5m [ 3 - 5ft ]. It is ready for harvesting from around 50-60 years. If well maintained the tree can produce a clear stem of up to 30m in length giving a high timber yield. It produces a very large leaf similar to a tobacco leaf which is around 12" long and wide. Teak has long been known for its durability, functionality and aesthetics.

Let your child discover the magic of music

One of Canada's most respected piano method programs for children is now being published right here in Steveston! The Kelly Kirby Introductory Piano Program originated over 65 years ago at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto where Mrs. May Kelly Kirby was asked to develop a program that would introduce children to the fundamentals of note reading and rhythm. After completion of the 4 book series, children would then be able to continue on with piano studies or move on to another instrument with all of the basic fundamentals in place.

After passing away in the 1980's, Mrs. Kirby's associate teacher, Margaret Holman, continued publishing the books and distributing them from Toronto. Prior to Mrs. Holman's death in the summer of 2011, she and her husband met with Linda Shirley, Director of 'The Arts Connection' in Steveston and discussed their desire to have her take over the publication of the books so that it would continue to be available to young children. For several years now, Linda has been the President of the Vancouver Kelly Kirby Music Society. The books are used by a network of teachers throughout Canada and the United States and qualified teachers who have taken the Teacher's Course and have returned to Asia are now teaching it in China and other areas abroad.

This piano method is superior to many others in that it lays a firm foundation in the fundamentals of note reading and the understanding of rhythm. Children develop amazing sight reading and ear training skills, all the while enjoying this fun-filled program. Taught by most teachers on a one-to-one basis, this workbook style approach makes the lesson an active one where flashcards, a supplementary workbook and assembling the books becomes part of the lesson. Kelly Kirby "Graduates" are recognized with an official "Graduation Certificate" at an annual recital held for all Vancouver graduates, and when the children continue their studies and begin taking Royal Conservatory of Toronto Examinations, they are eligible to apply for scholarships and trophies based on their examination accomplishments, as long as they continue their studies with a qualified Kelly Kirby teacher.

Linda Shirley has taught the program in Richmond since the early 1980's and since she opened The Arts Connection in 1990, she has had a group of qualified Kelly Kirby instructors working with her at her studio. Linda is proud to say that she now has students who studied with her from her home studio in the 1970's and 80's bringing their children...a second generation now..... to study Kelly Kirby with her! That in itself is a testimonial to the benefits and success of this " made in Canada " program!!

Always fighting the good fight as he sees it and standing up for heritage.

Richmond Councillor Harold Steves has received the distinguished Union of British Columbia Municipalities' (UBCM) Special Long Service award for his 41 years of civic service in Richmond. The award was presented during a gala ceremony at the organization's annual conference on September 29.

Steves has served on Richmond City Council for 41 years, continuously since 1977. Prior to that, he served a previous term as a Richmond alderman from 1968-1973. From 1973-1975 he served one term as an M.L.A. in the Provincial Legislature, and was one of the founders of B.C's Agricultural Land Reserve.

All nine members of Richmond Council paid tribute to Steves by attending the award ceremony in downtown Vancouver.

"Stretching back to the 1960s, Harold's service in public office now touches parts of six decades," noted Mayor Malcolm Brodie. "He's shown tremendous commitment and dedication to making Richmond and our province better places to live. All of Council was honoured to join in saluting him for his remarkable achievements."

Steves previously received the UBCM's Long-Service Recipient Award, honouring 25 years of service, in 1996.

Harold Steves
Richmond Councillor
Recognized For 41 Years of Civic Service

The Steves family is one of Richmond's first founding families, after which the community of Steveston is named. Manoah and Martha Steves were the first settlers in the area, arriving in 1877. They imported the first purebred Holstein cattle into BC, established a dairy to provide milk for the fledgling City of Vancouver and were Western Canada's first seedsmen. Born of Maude and Harold Sr., Harold and wife Kathy still reside in the old Steves farmhouse, built in 1917, on what is now an 11-acre (45,000 m<sup>2</sup>) cattle farm surrounded by residential development. Harold is a graduate of the University of British Columbia with a BSc in Agriculture.

A former Richmond school teacher, Harold operates the family farm in Steveston with his wife Kathy, raising pure bred Belted Galloway cattle. Harold also assists his son Jerry operate a ranch in Cache Creek, B.C. Descended from a pioneer Richmond farming family, he is very active in community life in the Steveston area, and is particularly interested in the preservation of farmland, heritage preservation, and environmental issues.

Harold Steves has served on Richmond City Council continuously since 1977, and served a previous term as alderman from 1968 - 1973. From 1973 - 1975 he served one term as an M.L.A. in the Provincial Legislature, and is one of the founders of the Agricultural Land Reserve.

In the mid-1960s Harold drafted the initial resolutions to NDP conventions to establish an Agricultural Land Bank system in British Columbia. As an MLA he was active in the establishment of the "Agricultural Land Reserve" under the Dave Barrett NDP Government and for the following decades, one of its strongest defenders. He is presently active in the Farmland Defense League.

Harold is the Chairs of Agriculture for Metro Vancouver, the Planning Committee of Richmond Council, as well as the Parks, Recreation and Cultural Services Committee of Council. He is also a member of the Finance; General Purposes; Planning and the Public Works & Transportation Committees. Harold is a Council representative to the following advisory committees, organizations and community associations: the Agricultural Advisory Committee; the Olympic Business Advisory Committee; the Richmond Farmers' Institute; the Sea Island Community Association; the Steveston Harbour Authority Board; the Britannia Heritage Shipyards Society; the Richmond Athletic Commission and the 2009 Richmond BC Seniors Games Board.

A MUSEUM FOR RICHMOND

Museum Location

A report submitted to the city by Harold Steves in 2006 on a museum location

Steveston Waterfront

Richmond is planning to build a museum. At present the discussion has centered around whether it should be a local museum or a destination museum that could attract international exhibits. Richmond's Museum Feasibility study estimates the cost to be $15 million for a local museum and $45 million for a destination museum. There is a third alternative, a small museum that can be expanded in the future, that would showcase Richmond's international maritime, industrial and high tech contributions.

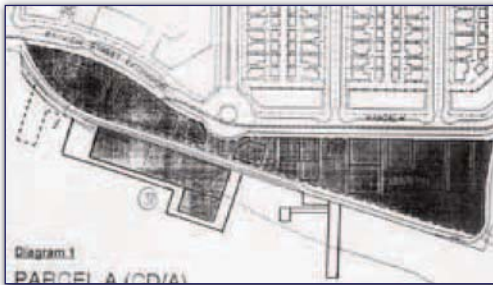

Heritage Tourism is most successful when sites are in close proximity offering a full day or two experience. The Steveston Waterfront has six historic nodes; Garry Point Park, the Gulf of Georgia Cannery National Historic Site, Steveston Landing, Steveston Museum and Japanese Fishermen's Medicare Office, the Britannia Shipyards National Historic Site and the London Farm. The ideal location for a museum with a maritime pacific theme would be a new node at the old Imperial Cannery site between Steveston Landing and the Britannia Shipyards.

A local museum in central Richmond will not get the attention it deserves as tourists and residents alike centre their interests on the waterfront, the open air atmosphere and harbour views. A museum on the waterfront could provide the focal point for interpreting the other sites while displaying aspects of Richmond History not shown at the open air museums.

The Imperial Cannery was the largest cannery in the world. The site is zoned for a seafood market and marina. Approval was given in the rezoning process to retain the Imperial Cannery envelope with a ground floor area of 35 to 45,000 sq.ft. It would not be blocking views as no residential space is permitted on the Onni site immediately to the north.

A marina has been considered for the site but the soil is contaminated and remediation is estimated at $6,185,750 for disposal in a landfill. The most economical use is covering the contaminated area with landfill for a park and building site, thus reclaiming about 2 acres of land worth about $12 million for under $1 million. A Museum complex on 2 acres would open up more public open space that will otherwise be lost when four storey buildings are constructed on the Onni site a metre from the dyke walkway.

The Building

A new building on the waterfront in such a prime location should an iconic landmark and designed for expansion. Museums are frequently located in an existing heritage building or a new building with little to distinguish it as heritage destination. There are some exceptions.

Tacoma Waterfront – Glass Museum

The City of Tacoma has a stretch of waterfront similar to ours. Their Maritime Museum is in a waterfront warehouse building. However, like both Steveston and Pictou much of their waterfront heritage has been lost. The Glass Museum is a modern building designed by Arthur Erickson to reflect the beehive burners that once dotted the landscape.

Steveston has evolved into a picturesque spot to shop, stroll the boardwalk, grab something to eat or just watch the fishing vessels come in after a long day on the water. Whether it's your first visit to Steveston or if you live here and haven't had a chance to experience the wonderful things a small town within a city can offer, we have made some picks of this Fall, enjoy it.

DAYS OF GLORY

STEVESTON, BRITISH COLUMBIA

Drs. Bill And Vicki Mather Collection, Victoria

"In 2002 Steveston played host to the tall ships from various parts of the world, including one from as far away as Holland. I painted this work trying to recreate some of the atmosphere that would have been the old Steveston. The tall ships are being towed in by fussy steam tugs, while hundreds of little gilnetters return to their shoreside houses at the end of the day."

If looks as if artists never retire. But then, who would really want to when there is so much beauty out there to paint?

John M. Horton

John Horton's lifelong love affair with the sea and maritime industries is readily apparent in his paintings and his lifestyle. He lives and works aboard his boat "Artist's Life" which is a converted fish boat generally moored in Steveston, B.C. John cruises B.C.'s coastal waters and observes keenly and recreates on canvas the life, the history and the industries which have arisen from the sea around our coast. He is a scrupulously realistic painter whose works embody technical mastery, a discerning eye for detail, and accuracy of representation. John's natural feeling for the sea is complemented by his profound sense of history and sensitivity to the many moods and subtleties of which the sea and marine life is capable. Mr. Horton's works have become part of many international private, corporate and public collections. (Ralph Westmark - 'Playboard Magazine').

Horton completed this architectural drawing in 12 hours, working over-night to meet a client's deadline.

Fall Leaf Printing

Time spent in nature has positive effects on the wellbeing and health of your child.

The most enriching part of this activity is the excitement of finding, inspecting, and collecting leaves outdoors. Cherish this time outside and try to find leaves of different sizes and shapes.

Help your child brush different colors of paint on a pan. Let your child choose a variety of colors and spread them around the pan.

Transfer the leaves to a white sheet of paper and have your child firmly press down on each leaf. Make sure the whole leaf has imprinted on the paper. Remove the leaves by peeling them off.

Have your child press their chosen leaves into the paint.

WITH OUR OWN

TWO HANDS

With Our Own Two Hands is a new preschool and learning centre in Steveston Village that offers a Reggio-inspired, nature-based program for children of all ages. Each day is filled with elements of gardening, yoga, art, outdoor explorations, music, languages, and more. Children have the opportunity to learn and grow in a holistic and enriching program that encourages exploration and creativity.
